The outline of the fence in place was built to resemble the roofs of California bungalows and the painter completed the bungalow with his brush, working in the windows, pillars, vines and trees and people in the windows. Parts of the fence were also used for advertising, with a lot of clever art work. the whole scheme being to make a beauty spot out of what otherwise would have been a neighborhood eye-

Is the school justly criticized for belife of the child? Then let the people of the community and the state put their brains to work to correct these evils. No task is more worth while.

Although it is part of the school's task to prepare for business success, it's primary function is to develop the character and help the child to form such habits of thought and action that it can later build successfully on the foundation laid in the public school.

Next issue we shall discuss some of the things being done in our own school to meet these issues.

The money will be in the custody of the County Depository, a bank in Hondo, and he understood it would be wiling to let other banks in the county have some of the money. - Devine News.

It is interesting to note that the senior class had no failures among Endeavoring to pay my bills, their number and made their average by a good margin as a whole; the junior class was not so lucky, but it was not the fault of the girls; the sophomore class made a fair'y good record, and we can especially mention From The Huajillo Leaf. that in the regular class only one failed in math.; the freshmen class, no doubt, with a few edges trimmed, and when a few more in the class make up their minds to work just a little harder, will make an ideal class. The seventh grade, Mr. Newton's pets, came out fairly well, but four of them were bad y crippled.

All in all, from the first grade through the eleventh, the pupils did well and we are proud of their work. The pupils who failed in the different grades, we are sorry for, and we offer our sympathy, co-operation and advice. We ask you to buckle down, work harder, fuss less, and note the change.

We can especially compliment our faculty, our School Board, our Mothers' Club, our patrons and our pupils for the sincere co-operation they have given this administration, for without them our school would have suffered, and the term would have ended not with the successful ending it has just

My Auto, 'Tis of Thee.

From The Huajillo Leaf. My auto, 'tis of thee, Short cut to poverty-Of thee I chant. I blew a pile of dough On you two years ago, And now you refuse to go, Or won't or can't.

Thru town and countryside, You were my joy and pride: Ah, happy days. I loved thy gaudy hue, Thy nice white tires so new, But now you're down and out for true, In many ways.

To thee, old rattle-box, Came many bumps and knocks; For thee I grieve. Badly thy top is worn,

I do believe.

While good folks choke and sneeze, As we pass by.

'Twould buy a mansion twice, I wonder why?

Thy motor has the grip, Thy spark plugs have the pip. And woe is mine. I too have suffered chills.

Ague and its kindred ills. Since thou wert mine.

IMPROVEMENTS!!

Isn't everybody rejoicing over our new walk! Why, it's a regular sidewalk highway. It extends from the schoolhouse to King's residence, covering the worst places in rainy weather. Already it contains the prints of many sizes of shoes from 1 up to about 14, I

But leaving all nonsense aside, our walk is considered a fine improvement to the town, as well as the school, and thanks are extended to all helpers who promoted its construction, and especimprovement and made it a reality.

To Messrs. O. E. Lacy, E. W. Lacy and V, P. King, who furnished the wagons and teams free of charge, and to the county for the sifted gravel, we offer our thanks.

Ford Retail Sales Go Over Million.

Show Increase of 105,000 Cars and Trucks Over Previous Year.

Retail sales of Ford cars, trucks and Fordson Tractors have again exceeded the million mark for the year 1921, according to a statement given out by the Ford Motor Company.

The Ford factory and assembly plant production reached a total of 1,050,740 cars, trucks and tractors for the year, with retail sales by dealers approximating 1,093,000, which in the United States alone surpassed the 1920 retail sales record by 104,213 Ford cars and trucks!

The Ford Company says the outlook for 1922 is decidedly optimistic. In fact, concrete evilences already exist in that car and truck retail sales for December, 1921, exceeded December 1920 sales by almost 25 per cent, and Fordson Tractor retail sales for the same period show an increase of over 100 per cent for December, 1921, as well as an increase over the total tractor sales for the month of November.

These facts seem to indicate that not only are the farmers buying more freely, but that the general public is becoming more responsive and receptive.

Another point brought out by a comparison of production figures for the past two years shows that Ford enclosed cars are gaining in popularity, as 23 per cent of the 1921 production were Sedans and Coupes as against a total of 18 per cent for the year previous.

Recent reductions in Ford car and truck prices brought them to a new low level. The Touring car now sells for $348, the Runabout for $319, the Coupe for $580, the Sedan for $645, the Chassis for $285, and the Truck for $430, all F. O.B. Detroit.

This is the fourth price cut in the past sixteen months. During that time the price of the Touring car alone has been cut from $575 to $348, a reduction of 40 per cent. Reductions on some of the other types have been even greater.

The Ford Company believes that this reduction, while not a large one, is especially important at this time as it should go a long way toward stabilizing market conditions.

Ford is giving employment at present to approximately 40,000 men in his main plant at Detroit, the apportance of which is emphasized when consideration is given to the fact that nearly 20 per cent of the city's population is directly dependent upon the Ford Motor Company.

believed to owe their peculiarities to Bethlehem" is so called because its white starlike flowers resemble the pictures of the Star of the East.

"Our Lady's Bedstraw" received its name because it was believed that the manger in which the Babe lay was filled with this plant.

An old account tells the story in this manner: "The broom and the end by this noise betrayed the fugitives. The flax bristled up. Happily for her, Mary was near a juniper the hospitable tree opened its branches as arms and inclosed the Virgin and the Child within their folds, affording them a secure hiding place. Then the Virgin uttered a malediction against the brooms and the chick-peas, and ever since that day they have always rustled and crackled. But later the Virgin pardoned the flax its weakness and gave the juniper her blessing." which is said to account for the use of the juniper as Christmas decorations in some countries.

It was sung at the Portuguese legation in S London as early as 1797. The most popular musical setting was ascribed by Vincent Novello, organist there, to John Reading, who was organist at Winchester cathedral from 1675-81, and later at Winchester college. The rapidity with which the American people are turning to the dustless highway is shown in figures recently compiled from reports to the United States bureau of mines. The figures show that in the last eight years chick-peas began to rustle and crackle, | 5,000,000 tons of asphalt and asphaltic materials have gone into American highways-a quantity sufficient for 50,000 miles of roads and streets. WOULD HAVE CRITIC MODEST

After All, as Is Here Set Forth, He is Merely Expressing His Own Opinion.

I shall not pretend that when I call the poetry of Milton good I suppose my judgment to have more validity than what may be claimed for that of the urchin who says the same of peppermints, wrote Olive Bell recently in the New Republic; but I do think a critic should cultivate a sense of humor. If he be very sure that his enthusiasm is the only appropriate response of a perfectly disinterested sensibility to absolute beauty, let him be as dogmatic as is compatible with good breeding; failing that, counsel as great a measure of modesty as may be compatible with the literary character. Let him remember that, as a rule, he is not demanding homage for what he knows to be absolutely good, but pointing to what he likes and trying to explain why he likes it. That, to my mind, is the chief function of An unerring eye for masterpieces is of more use to a dealer than to him. Mistakes do not matter; if we are to call mistakes what are perhaps no more than the records of a perverse or obscure mood. Was it a mistake in 1890 to rave about Wagner? Is It a mistake to find him intolerable now? Frankly, I suspect the man or woman of the nineties who was unmoved by Wagner of having wanted sensibility, and him or her who today revels in that music of being aesthetically oversexed. Be that as it may, never to pretend to like what bores or dislike what pleases him, to be honest in his reactions and exact in their description, is all I ask of a critic. It is asking a good deal it seems to me. To a lady who protested that she knew what she liked, Whistler is said to have replied: "So, madame, do the beasts of the field."

Why coes it take two to make a quarrel if a man and his wife are one?

All young men fall in love, but most of them manage to climb out again.

Have your butcher prepare the pig for roasting and lay him in cold water for fifteen minutes. Dry him inside and out with a soft cloth. Make a stuffing of bread crumbs, seasoned to taste with sait, pepper, parsley, sweet marjoram and thyme; moisten with butter, and work into the dressing two beaten eggs. Stuff the pig so that he will hold his original size and shape, and after sewing him up bend his fore legs backward and his hind legs forward under him. Skewer or tie him in this attitude and after dredging him well with flour put him, with a little water, in a covered roaster. Roast for an hour and a half before removing the cover, then rub him well with but-ter, baste him with the gravy in the pan and roast half an hour longer, basting twice during that time. Apple sauce should be served with him, a lemon should be in his mouth, cranberries in his eye sockets.-The Delin-

IN DOUBT

Wifey - This year you must tell me just what you are going to give me for Christmas. Hubby - But how do I know what you have decided upon?

Christmas in the Shetlands.

In the Shetland islands they celebrate an old Christmas Eve, January 5, and on that occasion the young men and children go "a-guizing." The children disguise themselves in strange dresses, parade the streets and invade the houses and shops begging for offerings. At one o'clock the young men, coarsely clad, drag blazing tar barrels through the town, blowing horns and cheering. At six o'clock in the morning they put off their grimy clothes and dressed in fantastic costumes go in groups to wish their triends the season's compliments.
